Introduction :-

Stress is a state of mind that reflects certain reactions in the human body and is experienced by a sense of anxiety, tension, and depression and is caused by such demands of the environmental or internal forces that cannot be met by the resources available or mental to the person. Stress is anything that changes our physical, emotional, behavioural or mental state. In today's changing and competitive work environment, stress level is increasing both in the workers as well as the managers. As a result of this work stress more and more workers and managers are showing signs of chronic fatigue. In most cases, stress leads to reduce efficiency of an employee and which in turn leads to reduce productivity. Stress is highly individualistic in nature. Some people have high tolerance for stress and thrive well in face of several stressors in the environment. Some individuals will not perform well unless they experience a level of stress which motivates them to do better. On the other hand, some people have very low level of tolerance for stress and they show signs of stress when they are exposed to tension and anxiety as they go through the duties assigned to them.

Profile of Indian Banking Sector:-

There are twenty seven nationalised banks, nineteen private sector banks, thirty two foreign banks, various co-operative banks and regional rural banks operating in India. The service sector which reports for a around 60% of countries gross domestic product (GDP) has emerged as one of the largest and fastest growing sectors not only in the country but also in the global landscape. The country's banking industry would be world's third largest in asset size by 2025, as per a project report by Boston consulting group. The last decade witnessed of rapid increase in transactions through ATM as well as internet and mobile banking. The country's banking industry examines for greater transformation with the Indian parliament passing the Banking Laws Bill in 2019. The area of activity of the sector has significantly changed. The bill permits the Reserve Bank of India to make final guidelines on issuing new licences, which could increase the number of banks in the country. Axis Bank has declared a one year rural fellowship programme for youth for India. For 2014 to attract the
